Recognized for their far-reaching impact on the state and its citizens, these leaders play a vital role in the health and wellbeing of their patients and communities.

"It's an honor, not only to be included on this list, but to also share this recognition with so many other exceptional leaders in the healthcare field across the state," said GHA President and CEO Caylee Noggle. "I'm privileged to work on their behalf and on behalf of a healthier Georgia every day."

"Congratulations to each of these extraordinary leaders on this recognition," said GHA Board Chair Mary Chatman. "They are difference-makers in the healthcare field, and we are grateful for their never-ending efforts to improve healthcare and ensure Georgia's citizens can get the care they need. GHA is proud to partner with each of them as we continually work to advance healthcare in our state.”

Georgia Trend publishes its list of the most influential leaders annually and recognizes leaders from a variety of fields, including healthcare, agribusiness, education, the arts, communication, real estate, and transportation.

About GHA

Founded in 1929, GHA serves nearly 150 hospitals in Georgia and promotes the health and welfare of the public through the development of better hospital care for all Georgia's citizens. The mission of GHA is to advance the health of individuals and communities by serving as the leading advocate for all Georgia hospitals and healthcare systems. GHA represents its members before the General Assembly and Congress, as well as state and federal regulatory agencies, and is an allied member of the American Hospital Association.
